Witness Tells of Admission by

Hines' Brother-in-Law.

SAYS HE DONATED $10,000William Burgess, Duluth Contractor, on Stand in Senatorial Inquiry.*EX-SENATOR HOPKINS HEARD*Declares He Was Told Ira C. Copley*Spent $70,000 to $100,000*to Defeat Him.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 21.—The surprise of the Lorimer inquiry yesterday was the testimony of William Burgess, an electrical contractor, of Duluth, Minn. Burgess testified that in March 1911, B. F. Wiebe, brother-in-law of Edward Hines, declared that he (Wiebe) subscribed $10,000 to a jackpot used to effect the election of Lorimer. Burgess said that this conversation took place aboard the Winnipeg "Flyer," in the smoking compartment of a sleeping car, when the two men were alone.

Ex-United States Senator Albert J. Hopkins proved a somewhat reluctant witness. His memory was poor regarding many things said to have occurred about the time of Lorimer's election.

The name of Ira C. Copley of Aurora was brought up during Mr. Hopkins' testimony. He was asked as to the attitude of Mr. Copley.

"He was opposed to me," replied Mr. Hopkins. "Do you recall that Mr. Copley was said to have spent a considerable sum of money in opposition to your candidacy?" "I have heard that he spent $70,000 or $100,000 to defeat me."

Mr. Hopkins said he could not remember the names of the persons who brought this information to him.

Tilden Refuses to Produce Books.

The Helm committee stopped its proceedings last night to try to decide what should be done about the refusal of Edward Tilden, the Chicago meat packer and banker, to produce his bank books before the committee. No decision was reached.

Tilden, who had been mentioned as alleged treasurer of a fund said to have been raised to help elect Lorimer, denied last week all knowledge of such a fund. He was under subpoena to produce his banking accounts in person before the committee yesterday. Instead he sent a lawyer. The lawyer read an affidavit and letter to the committee from Mr. Tilden. The affidavit said that Mr. Tilden knew absolutely nothing, and his bank accounts showed nothing touching directly or indirectly upon the election of Senator Lorimer.

The letter stated that Mr. Tilden would allow one member of the committee to examine his bank accounts in confidence, provided the member, to be named by Tilden, should hold in confidence all information gained that did not concern the bribery inquiry.

A. K. Brown, president of the Kenwood Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, was the first witness. He declared that Tilden had not carried an account with his bank during the year 1906, and for that reason he said he could not produce any records such as the committee had demanded of him.

Burgess Tells of Meeting.

William Burgess then told of the railroad journey between Duluth and Virginia, Minn., in March, 1911. He said that a man named Johnson, Randolph, John and Carl Weyerhaeuser, C. F. Wiebe of Virginia, a brother-in-law of Edward Hines, and another man were in the smoking compartment of a sleeping car.

Burgess said that the subject of William Lorimer's election came up, and he expressed the opinion that Lorimer had used money to effect his election.

"You don't know that you are talking about," Wiebe said to me," testified Burgess.

Burgess then testified that Wiebe said Lorimer never spent a cent, but that a jackpot was raised by Lorimer's friends to effect the election.

"I know you are talking about," Wiebe was quoted by Burgess as saying, "because I put up $10,000 for the jackpot."

Burgess finished his testimony by stating that while Edward Hines and members of the Weyerhaeuser family were aboard the sleeping car none of them was in the smoking compartment when Wiebe, who is secretary of the Edward Hines Lumber Company, made this statement regarding Lorimer's election.

Ex-Senator Hopkins Testifies.

Ex-Senator Hopkins followed Burgess on the stand. Mr. Hopkins related the incidents of his choice as the caucus nominee of the republican party for federal senator early in 1909. He told of the candidacies of William E. Mason, George E. Foss and Lawrence B. Stringer, the latter the democratic aspirant for the senatorship.

He then told of opening headquarters in Springfield in January, 1909. He said he spent much of the time each week in conferences with his friends and advisers, occasionally going to Chicago and Aurora on personal business trips.

Mr. Hopkins then stated that Lorimer's candidacy was not made known to him until the day before Lorimer's election.

"Previous to this," said Mr. Hopkins, "I had heard a rumor regarding Lorimer, but I gave it no credence. My attention was first called closely to Mr. Lorimer's candidacy the day before his election. This was brought about by the vote of Senator McElvaine, the first vote cast for Mr. Lorimer."

Mr. Hopkins questioned Mr. Hopkins regarding reports that money had been used to elect Mr. Lorimer.

Tells of Bribe Offered.
"Senator McCormick of Madison county," said Mr. Hopkins, "told my private secretary, John M. Peppers, that he had been offered $2,000 to vote for Mr. Lorimer."

Mr. Hopkins said he could not state the time or place of this conversation, but that Mr. Peppers could undoubtedly do so.

"There may have been other incidents of a like character," testified the witness, "but I have forgotten. My mind was recalled to one by the testimony of Senator Landee before this committee. The testimony of Senator Landee recalls what I said to him a few days before Lorimer's election."

"What was that?" asked Mr. Healy. "I told him that I was a candidate for the senate and not a senatorial candidate, and that I was not looking for democratic votes," replied Mr. Hopkins.

At this point the examination of Mr. Hopkins the name of ex-Representative Johnson Lawrence of Polo was mentioned.

Mr. Hopkins testified that when Lawrence deserted the Lorimer camp he (Hopkins) protested.

"I told Lawrence," said Mr. Hopkins, "that he could not justify himself with his constituents for his Lorimer vote. I told him his people would believe his vote had been bought."

At this point the examination of Mr. Hopkins failed to develop additional information regarding the actions of Lawrence or other members of the legislature.

Said It Would Cost $100,000.

Mr. Hopkins admitted under cross-examination that he had several times said that it would cost $100,000 to elect Mr. Lorimer to the senate. Witness was asked if he had discussed the matter with Senator Cullom in Washington. He replied that he had not.

Mr. Hopkins then stated that he had expected all through the senatorial deadlock to be elected by republican votes.

Asked regarding the men who managed his campaign in Springfield, Mr. Hopkins mentioned the names of Frederick A. House, Frederick Blount, United States Marshal Hitch and ex-Lieutenant Governor Charles A. Northcott.

Mr. Hopkins asked Mr. Healy, "did you ever hear of a conference, at the time of the deadlock between certain members of the Illinois house and the then speaker of the house, in which it was suggested that you could have a certain number of democratic votes at $2,000 each?"

"No," I did not. I have no such recollection," replied Mr. Hopkins.

Mr. Hopkins said that while he was a candidate he knew of no opposition in Washington to his candidacy, but since then he had heard that Senator Aldrich was opposed to him.

Mr. Healy returned the witness to the subject of reports that democratic votes had been offered him for a stipulated sum of money. He was asked if he had recently discussed this subject. The witness said he had not. He said he could remember no other instance aside from Senator McCormick in which money had been offered a specific representative.
